TODAY'S PROGRAM:

Joy Klohonatz, a Gratitude Consultant with Promptings was our speaker today. Joy had a 23 year career in the retail management industry where she was repeatedly recognized for her stellar customer service and high employee retention. Joy is also a Trainer, Author and the chapter Leader of Inspired Women.

Joy reminded us that November is National Gratitude Month. She challenged us to choose 3 things we are grateful for each day. She suggested that we keep a daily journal to help us reflect on them. Gratitude is a lifestyle, not only a word. A big portion of her Gratitude platform is for people to send greeting cards to let loved ones, customers, family know how much we appreciate them. Statistics show that 88% of emails are not opened. Whereas, mailed cards have a 100% open rate. Joy also shared the concept of the candy cane brigade. She gave each of us two candy canes. In our daily lives, we can look for someone to give a candy cane to. It will surely lift their spirits and let them know they are valued.
